

ALEUTIAN RIVERS ANGLING - SILVER SALMON OPENING

This remote Alaska fly fishing camp provides world class Salmon fishing. We can say with confidence this is one of the best silver salmon fishing destinations on the planet. This remote fly fishing watershed is second to none in diversity and will leave you with a renewed taste for fly fishing adventure. Many anglers dream of fishing a small, intimate river, full of ocean-bright fish in a truly remote setting. The Sapsuk River (also known as the Hoodoo River), located on the Alaska Peninsula near Nelson Lagoon is such a place.

Hosting only six guests a week, this is a proven location with limited availability. Add to this an opportunity to tangle with some of Alaska largest Silver Salmon and it becomes easy to understand why this far off place is high on the list for any angler in search of Alaska's freshest salmon on the fly.
